Weed Love a New Guitar

Posted by: hipstomp on Wednesday, March 28 2007

The MADA Caimes semi-acoustic guitar is no regular axe; the organically molded body is made from hemp and, ironically, lacks joints.

A new spray-molding technique, specified by designers Adam Wehsely-Swiczinsky, Luthier Andi Neubauer and Norbert Schmid of the AWS Designteam Studio in Vienna, precludes edges and provides the smooth shape you see above (available below in different colors).

Seven years in the making, the MADA Caimes launches this June. Check it out here.
